

Fact: Abortion Kills

As with every pro-abortion pundit, advocacy group or legislation, one fact is never discussed: the sanctity of life. You never hear this: “Before I continue, let me be unequivocally clear that abortion ends a beating heart. It is a fact that abortion kills.” Never do they allow that to be considered.

Yet a recent writer stated that ‘Religion rules the state on abortion’ because legislators of faith are pharisaical, bigots, cruel scoundrels, chief hypocrites, and the meanest extremists. This is easy for this writer to say this since he or she has been allowed to experience birth. For the unborn, who is alive, those descriptors give hope that they will be allowed the same right to life as this writer has been granted by the Grace of God.

Abortion is not birth control; it is birth termination. Birth control is proactive, not reactively ruthless. Supporters of abortions don’t want you to consider that; they only want you to consider that reproductive rights matter. They want the rights, but they don’t want the responsibilities. That nasty inconvenient truth keeps popping its ugly head up and their solution is to abort it as quickly as the lives of the unborn.

So, who are the true life-terminating cruel scoundrels, hypocrites, mean extremists, fetal-bigots, and killers of the unborn? It is not those legislators of faith. I was about to say only irrational fools, but I’ll let that eternal categorization come from God in His time.

Ken Scott
Montgomery

See Original Below...

Religion rules the state

Montgomery 5:47 p.m. CDT May 21, 2015

Here we go again. The Alabama House has approved three separate bills to restrict abortion. The first denies abortion on the basis of a fetal heartbeat. The cry of the poor is unheard, because the unborn are of more value, according to the Legislature. The second protects the conscience of health care providers not to participate in abortion proceedings.

The rights of women have no conviction of conscience like the health care providers in controlling their own reproductive cycles of fertilization. The third bill prevents abortion clinics in proximity of a school within 2,000 feet. While students must be protected from the clinics, students can be armed with guns.

With several abortion laws already added to the state constitution, these bills from my perspective are designed for continual attacks in overturning Roe v. Wade, and the Legislature has a mindset to make Bible religion on abortion and other religious themes the ruler in the state.

In our Legislature, we are witnessing present day pharisaical behavior in erecting barriers upon the populace for religious control. It can be said that the worst bigots, the cruelest scoundrels, the "chiefest" hypocrites and the meanest extremists can be found among the legislators of faith.

Isaiah J. Ashe

Huntsville