Legislators should heed call to put people first

November 24, 2010

I hope every Montgomerian read Ken Scott's Alabama Voices column on the front page of the Voices section in Sunday's Advertiser.

It would be great if a copy of this article were placed on the desk of every legislator in every state and especially in Washington, D.C., and made mandatory reading.

All he said hits the nail on the head politically speaking. Our representatives and senators need to realize they work for us as citizens [and] need to reflect our wishes in their votes [for] support of bills, etc. They weren't put in office just to further a political career.

I would also tell them that this last election should be a warning: Represent John Q. Public or get voted out next time and the next time and the next time until our point is made.
